On August 7, 2014, at approximately 9:50 a.m., Department of Homeland Security, Homeland Security Investigation (HSI), McAllen, Texas, Special Agent (SA) Richard L. Ullrich began an Internet investigation to identify persons using the peer-to-peer (P2P) software on the Internet to traffic in child pornography. SA Ullrich identified a computer, located at IP (Internet Protocol) 108.219.74.119 as offering to participate in the distribution of movies with titles that were suggestive of child pornography. Further investigation performed on IP 108.219.74.119 revealed that the same IP address was utilized from the Guerra residence in McAllen, Texas.

On August 28, 2014, HSI McAllen, Texas, executed a federal search warrant on the Guerra residence in McAllen, Texas. During the execution of the search warrant agents encountered Maximiliano CANTU, who resides on the Guerra property. The search warrant was executed without incident resulting in the seizure of 7 computers.

On August 28, 2014, Maximiliano CANTU was interviewed by SA Ullrich, and SA Jason Jupe. CANTU was read his rights in English by SA Ullrich from a preprinted form, as witnessed by SA Jupe. CANTU stated that he understood his rights, waived his rights, and agreed to an interview.

CANTU stated that he did in fact download child pornography from the Internet, and was in fact currently in possession of child pornography within his computer, and that he was aware that it was an illegal to possess images and movies of child pornography. CANTU additionally stated that he was aware that the child pornography videos in his computer would be shared with other users.

A preliminary computer forensics review of CANTU's computer revealed a folder which contained numerous video files of child pornography.

Assistant United States Attorney James Sturgis was briefed regarding the aforementioned and Federal Prosecution was accepted.
